EMAND IN FRENCH
HAMBER THAT RUHR
REGION BE SEIZED*Break of Fighting Between Germans and Poles in Silesia Cause.*BRITISH TROOPS READY*Free of 3,000 to 4,000 to Be Moved From Rhine to Scene of Conflict; Meeting of Supreme Council at Bologne Late in Week Probable.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, May 24.—Fighting between Germans and Poles in Silesia has ended a new crisis over the policy followed by the Allied nations regarding that former province of Germany and it had a distinct influence on the debate in the French chamber when it convened today. The Silesian situation developed rapidly at night, and demands for the occupation of the Ruhr region of Germany were again heard.

It appeared to be the avowed purpose of the opposition to force M.
Ridolfi to state the position of the government, and many deputies were prepared to demand immediate occupation of the Ruhr should the Berlin government refuse to take steps to withdraw German troops from the Silesian zone without delay.

PARIS, May 24.—Premier Briand questioned by a group of deputies before a meeting of the chamber today, said there was no reason for the occupation of the Ruhr region because the aspect of the Silesian question had been changed and the Ruhr was occupied without the support of the Allies it would be equivalent to abandonment of the treaty of Versailles.

LONDON, May 24.—Germany's reply to the representations of Great Britain and France for an embargo against the entry of troops or ammunition into Upper Silesia is generally regarded in official circles here as satisfactory. A disposition also is noted on the part of Poland to attempt to control the insurgents. These considerations, together with the dispatch of between 3,000 and 4,000 British troops from the Rhine, which are preparing to move, are inspiring a more hopeful attitude toward the problem.

A final settlement, however, awaits a meeting of the Supreme Council, which will probably be held in Bologna late this week.

PARIS, May 24.—Germany replied today to the French communication of yesterday on the Silesian situation, he replied declining in effect that Germany had taken the most vigorous measures toward closing its frontier with Upper Silesia.

THREE COMMITTEES NAMED*Info of Organizations in Charge of Memorial Services.

The Memorial Day Services in this city will be in charge of a committee composed of the bodies from the G. A.
R., the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The G. A. R. committee is composed of W. P. Clark, J. J. Barnhart and E.
Dunn. The veterans' committee is composed of Thomas A. Dalley, W. B.
DeBoer and Charles A. McCormick.

While H. D. Wright, George Percy, Gasser Burkhardt and Henry Bailey make up the American Legion committee.

In case of rain on Monday services will be held in the high school auditorium.

Cow and Chickens Cremated.

In a fire at Brookvale early Monday morning the stable of John La-posky was entirely destroyed. Three cows and some chickens were cremated.
The origin of the blaze is not known.

Receivers From Scarlet Fever.

John Rice of Mount Crawford avenue has recovered from an attack of scarlet fever.

Membership Drive*Of Auto Club Will*Begin Next Week

Plans for the membership drive of the Youghiogheny Automobile club are being outlined by Chairman A. S.
Steele of that committee. It will probably be launched some time next week. Efforts are being made to bring up the membership by voluntary enrollment before starting the active canvass. Ever since the smoke last week there has been a steady stream of membership applications.

The cooperation of neighboring communities has been assured. President C. H. Franks and other officials are working quietly, yet effectively, with the result that interesting developments are promised when the next meeting is held.

Membership cards will be mailed within the next few days to those who have already filed their applications.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation have promised hearty support for the local club and it is probable that one of them will attend the next general meeting.

Changing Styles for Men And Women Leading Cause Of Huge Industrial Waste*BIDS FOR ASPHALTIC SURFACE TO BE ASKED FOR PATTERSON AVE.*June 13 Date For Opening Them, Along With Brick and Concrete;
Other News of Connell.

City council last night adopted a resolution directing the purchasing agent to advertise for bids for the paving of Patterson avenue, along with brick and concrete, at the conclusion of the bids to be in by the evening of June 13.

The matter of the grade at the eastern end of Patterson avenue, over which there is controversy, was left undecided. It developed there is no established grade and that persons who built along the section of the street were guided by what they thought ought to be grade stakes, but which were not. The matter will come up again at the next meeting, it having been referred to the city engineer.

The playgrounds organization asked council to have the grounds in the several sections of the city put in condition. The work will be referred to the street force, Councilman B. L.
Berg said.

The matter of sewer extension in Wills road, a distance of 260 feet, was held over until it is determined if funds are available. The estimated cost is $346.

Council passed a resolution thanking Mayor Marquette for a framed portrait of the donor which has been hung in council chamber.

REFUSE WAGE DISCUSSION*Miners Will Not Agree to Hold Conference With Operators.

DUBOIS, Pa., May 24.—Coal operators here today received a letter from John Brophy, president of District No.
2, United Mine Workers of America, in answer to the request of the Central Coal association that the mining agreement now in force in this field be reopened. Mr. Brophy, in his reply, said that the request was somewhat vague as it did not specify the questions to be discussed.

He added that if the coal operators expected the union to reopen the wage question the discussion would be useless as the scale now in force in District No. 2 had been endorsed by the national organization and must remain in force until March 31, 1922.

ALTOONA, May 24.—J. S. Sommerville, president of the Central Coal association, has been advised by the officials of District No. 2, United Mine Workers, that if the conference asked for by the Central Pennsylvania coal operators is to require a reduction in the wage scale the joint conference will be refused as their position is in line with that of T. L.
Lewis, international president.

SID HATFIELD ARRESTED*Matewan Police Chief Charged With Assaulting Coal Company Official.

By Associated Press.
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 24.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sid Hatfield, former chief of police at Matewan, it was announced here. He is charged with assaulting P. J. Smith, superintendent of the Stone Mountain Coal company several days ago.

Patrols sent from Williamson late last night and early today along the upper Tug river valley reported at noon that all was quiet in the mining country.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Investigation of disturbances in Mingo county, W. Va., is proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Johnson, California.

GRANT TWO DIVORCES*Wife Makes Petition in One Case; Husband in Other.

Four divorces were granted in Uniontown today, two from this end.
Dorothy Brinkley of Connellsville was freed from Samuel Brinkley of Youngstown, O., on grounds of desertion. The couple were married at Cumberland on May 21, 1912. He first deserted her in 1914, she said, returning afterwards and again leaving on May 9, 1915. He said he was going to Youngstown, O., to work, the woman said, and since then he had sent her home only $60 for the support of herself and child.

Ernest P. Zanes of Connellsville was granted a divorce from Bolla H.
Zanes of Canada. He charged desertion. The couple were married at Burlington, N. Y., on August 15, 1919.

Greeks Repulse Turks.

ATHENS, May 24.—Attacks against Greek lines in Northern Asia Minor by Turkish Nationalists has been repulsed with heavy losses, says an official statement issued at the war office.

Seven Killed in Wreck.

BAGNERES DE BIGORRE, France, May 24.—Seven persons were killed and 12 injured when a railway train was derailed at Artigues, near here, today.

HARDING PLEADS FOR CO-OPERATION
TO RESTORE NATION*All Lines of Business and Industry Summoned to "Stand Together" by President Speech.*By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The cooperation of every factor of American business and industry to put the nation's house in order after the dislocation of war was bespoken by President Harding Monday night at a dinner here celebrating the 125th anniversary of the New York Commercial.

Agriculture, labor and business management, the President declared, all must stand together in the construction of a new reconstruction.
He asserted that although the United States did not want to live in isolation or selfishness, its duty to the rest of the world could be best performed by giving its attention first to the rehabilitation of its own resources.

On the part of the administration,
Mr. Harding promised that government interference with business would be reduced to a minimum while government cooperation with all properly conducted businesses would be expanded and broadened. He declared his purpose to reverse the tendency in some quarters "to regard business as dishonest, until it should prove it self honest and to regard business in business as a crime."

Emphasizing the fundamental importance of agriculture, the President asserted that the farmer was entitled to "all the help the government can give him without injustice to others."

From the wage earner he asked "compensation for comfort, education and a savings, while for every other element in industry he urged a fair opportunity to do his part in the reconstruction task."

Mr. Harding also suggested that the nation's loans to the Allies be put to a more tangible form, that facilities of exchange be bettered, and that all the financial policies of the reconstruction period be so formulated as to protect the gold standard.

"Assuming that these things may be aid down as fundamentals," he said,
"it is for us all to get back to work.
We must have confidence that things will come right. We have dealt with the greatest problem that humanity ever confronted in carrying on the war. We will have no problem hereafter greater or more difficult than that was. Therefore we are entitled to every confidence that we will cope successfully with the problems that yet lie ahead of us."

JOHN CURRY, LUMBER OPERATOR IS CALLED
AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS*Stricken in March While on His Way Home From Florida, Where He Had Spent the Winter.

John Curry, 75 years old, a prominent lumberman of Connellsville, died this morning at 11:10 o'clock at his home in South Prospect street. His death was not unexpected. His illness dated back to last March.

Mr. and Mrs. Curry had spent the greater part of the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., and on route home they stopped in Jacksonville, Fla., for a visit at the home of Stanley Jackson.
While there Mr. Curry was taken ill of shingles and was brought to his home here as soon as his condition would permit the trip. With the exception of a few days, he had been confined to his bed since returning home and since last Thursday he had been unconscious.

Mr. Curry was the eldest son of

Stupendous Work of Our Navy in the World War Forms a Record of Which All Loyal Americans May be Proud*By JOSEPHUS DANIELS

CONCLUDING ARTICLE.
Let me tell you a few of the big things the navy did in the World War, some of which you may not realize.

Even in peace times the navy's operations extend over a considerable portion of the globe, with fleets in the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Far East.

During the war our ships operated from Archangel and the White sea, in northern Russia, to the Adriatic and the Mediterranean; in the North sea, in English and Irish waters, all along the coast of France, Spain, Portugal, in Indian waters, in the Azores; pa-trrolled our own coast and the western Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea, the South American coast, guarded the Panama canal, and maintained a vast fleet of troopships, cargo transports and convoying vessels, carrying troops, munitions and supplies from America to Europe.

Guarding against possible raiders and German submarines in the Pacific, our operations extended from our own west coast to Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines, and the few vessels left in the Orient cooperated with the Japanese and other Allied naval forces from Manila to Vladivostok.

Activities Belled the World.
When we were pressing into service the "war zone" all available submarine craft, a fleet of our small destroyers stationed at Cavite made the voyage from the Philippines through the straits, the Indian ocean, the Red sea, through the Suez canal and the Mediterranean to Gibraltar, where they did yeoman service in convoy duty from that center of ocean traffic. Thus, during the World War the navy's activities literally belled the globe.

Before hostilities ended we had in service in European waters 375 vessels.

Thirty-Mill School Tax, Plus $5 for Each Voter, Laid by Board for 1921*Twenty-One Mills to Be Levied for Payment of Teachers' Salaries.*BIXLER SETTLES IN FULL

The school board, with a full membership present, met in a long session over a discussion of the tax question last night, and ended by fixing the levy for 1921 at 30 mills. New laws passed by the last Legislature were gone over and their provisions and requirements, especially the ones regarding the teachers' salaries and means of securing the finances, studied.

Under the Edmunds bill, which adjusts teachers' salaries and "authorizes and requires" a separate tax in addition to the present millage, to pay the salaries, it became necessary for the board to add five mills to the present assessment.

The local school tax for the city now consists of 25 mills for teachers' salaries, five mills for a slaking fund, four mills for a general fund and a personal tax of $5 on every resident, male or female, over 21 years of age.

The inclusion of women in the $5 assessment is made possible under a law signed by Governor Sprout.

The board expressed a desire to cut the millage as close as possible but now that teachers' salaries are cared for by law it is impossible to pare those figures, it was said.

A. O. Bixler, serving his first term as school tax collector, settled his duplicate in full, something very unusual in the annals of school affairs here. The majority of his predecessors failed to complete the collections within the year. Mr. Bixler was recommended collector.

The property committee reported that all buildings were in good condition and recommended some repairs to be made by the janitors during the summer months.

Children will be enumerated and residents assessed immediately following the close of the term in June. The three grade principals, S. B. Henry, C. C. Miller and J. C. Grossman, will be the enumerators.

House Appropriates
$200,000 to Aid in Dry Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, May 24.—After heated discussion of the prohibition question during which Commissioner Kramer was bitterly criticized and as vigorously defended, the House Monday voted an additional $200,000 for enforcement of the Volstead act until July 1.

Representative Volstead proposed the increase in the total of the deficiency appropriation bill which the House was considering to permit retention on federal payrolls of 700 prohibition agents who Mr. Kramer had announced would be dropped for the remainder of the fiscal year because of shortage of funds.

The Volstead amendment was adopted 77 to 35, less than one-fourth of the House members being on the floor at the time but another vote on the bill is passed.

Even the members who favored the amendment, however, doubted whether it would afford relief in time to be of much value inasmuch as the bill, after passage by the House, must go to the Senate.

S. & C. TRAIN CHANGES*Become Effective Sunday, May 29, According to Official Announcement.

Changes in the train service, becoming effective Sunday, May 29, on the Somerset & Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, have been announced.

Train No. 52, old No. 57, will run through to Johnstown, leaving Summer set at 11:30 A. M. daily, except Sunday, as now, arriving at Johnstown at 1:40 P. M. Train No. 53 will be changed to No. 55 and train No. 55 to 57, with no change in the schedule of either train. Train No. 56, old No. 68, is extended to run from Johnstown, leaving there at 12:30 P. M. daily, except Sunday, arriving at Rockwood at 2:45 P. M. Instead of 2:40. Train No.
56 will be known as train No. 65, running on the old schedule.

RECEIVERS MAKE REPORT*Court Approves Final Accounts of United Fire Brick Company.

The final accounts of T. B. Palmer, Harry Whyle and T. E. Markell, receivers for the United Fire Brick company, were confirmed in court in Uniontown this morning. Appeals must be filed before June 13.

The receivers operated the plant from May 24, 1916, when they were appointed, until 1917, when it was sold to the United Refractories company.

Bridegroom-Elect Killed.

White enroute to claim his bride, Bernard Thaw Evans, a former Pittsburg man, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon when his automobile was wrecked near Lancaster. Mr.
Evans was to have married Miss Beatrice A. Montgomery of Uniontown in Pittsburg on June 1. He had traveled from New York, where he lived, and had just left Lancaster when his machine got beyond his control and rolled down an embankment.

Three Have Tonils Removed.

Harold Huey of Dawson, Mrs. C. H.
Johnston of Dickerson Run and Mrs.
Walter Evans of Johnstown underwent tonsil operations at the Cottage State hospital this morning.

Mrs. Dunn Improved.

The condition of Mrs. Edmund Dunn, who has been ill at her home in South Prospect street, is improved today.

RED CROSS HOME SERVICE SECTION
DID MUCH GOOD*In Relief of Distressed and Needy Persons During the Last Quarter.*RECEIVED CO-OPERATION*Of Doctors and Others Interested in Ministrations; Activities Were Varied and Covered a Large Area, Extending Even to Bohemia, Europe.

The report of the Home Service Section of the Connellsville Branch of the Fayette County Chapter of the Red Cross for the quarter ending April 30, shows that the excellent work begun done by the local body is continuing in a highly satisfactory and efficient manner.

In submitting her report Mrs.
Louise M. Reynolds, home service visitor, makes willing acknowledgment and expresses high appreciation of the cooperation given her in the work. "If the branch did not have the hearty cooperation and support of the doctors of Connellsville and Pittsburg," says the report, "the entire amount spent on the activities of the branch would not be half enough to pay for the operative and medical cases that have been thus made possible."

The actual accomplishments are best shown in the statistics of the work done during the quarter, which is summarized as follows: Sixty-three families other than soldiers and sailors families, representing 210 persons, have been helped; new families added, 31; social adjustment cases, 30; desertion and non-support cases, 11; nursing rehabilitation, 17; unemployed needing help, 21; children needing special medical care, 42; mentally deficient, five, three of whom were placed in institutions;
children placed in homes and schools; 12 patients taken to hospitals, nine; toniclectomy operations, seven; women cared for during confinement, four; to the tubercular department of the county home, one; outdoor relief secured, four; cases requiring legal aid, eight; employment secured, 15; visits to families and to others in interests of families, 14; office calls, 67; letters written.

The financial part of the report shows the expenditures of the quarter to have been $600.48, distributed as follows:

Operations and medical treatment, $176.60; assisting the unemployed, $106.90; clothing and materials, $190.50; nursing and medicine, $27.30; groceries, $18.25; milk and ice, $34.08; coal, $22.30; traveling to homes and hospitals, $24.20; typewriting paper, $2.25.

The activities of the section were not limited to Connellsville and immediate vicinity, calls having been answered at Normalville, Eversen, Trotter, Mill Run, Vanderhill, Pennsville, Leisenring No. 4, Adams, Memorial church, Olmsted's, Old Champlain, Brookville, Owensdale and Brunn, Bohemia.

In connection with the aid extended in behalf of the person in far away Bohemia, a letter recently received by T. J. Hooper, chairman of the branch, expresses the appreciation of the writer in a quaint manner.

"I am a lone widow," says the writer, "and I take pleasure in writing you a few lines in order to thank you. I am in a big sorrow and am gladly surprised. I really cannot tell more than to thank you a thousand times as my benefactor. Unexpected donation surprised me and pray the Lord he will repay you."

During the quarter cases have been investigated and reported upon for the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of the Red Cross. Children's Aid Society of Pittsburg; Union Relief Association of Springfield, Mass.; Young Women's Christian Association of Pittsburg; Red Cross, Flint, Mich.; Children's Home, Washington, D. C.; and Children's Home, Alexandria, Va.

Cases requiring the attention of the home service visitor can be reported to T. J. Hooper, chairman, or to any member of the executive board of the branch, or to the advisory board of the section, consisting of Dr. Katherine Wakefield, Mrs. W. O. Schoen-over and Mrs. J. French Kerr. The office of the section is in the Frances Cameron school building, hours 11 A.
M. to 12 noon; Tri-State telephone 332.

Registration Law*For Third-Class Cities Is Amended

A bill approved Monday by Governor William C. Sprout will remove the necessity of permanent residents of Connellsville and other third-class cities who were registered the previous year to answer the numerous questions propounded by the registrars.

The measure provides that county commissioners shall furnish to registrars a complete list of the voters registered the previous year, and that voters who have resided in the district the previous year and produce the proper tax receipt may be registered upon stating residence and political party without answering additional questions.

Culture Club Elects Officers.
 Election of officers for the annual year featured the annual meeting of the Culture Club held yesterday afternoon in the Carnegie library. The election resulted in the following: President, Mrs. W. O. Schoonover; first vice-president, Mrs. John B. Davis; second vice-president, Mrs. Warren L. Wright; recording secretary, Mrs. S. B. Snodgrass; treasurer, Mrs. S. B. Snodgrass; reports were submitted by Mrs. W. O. Schoonover; executive committee, Mrs. W. P. Clark; and the fund-raising committee, Mrs. J. B. Manti. Public health committee, Mrs. J. W. Butler; education committee, Mrs. R. C. Brown; social committee, Mrs. R. C. Brown.

The following playgrounds committee was named: Mrs. Howard Myers, general chairman; Mrs. Clyde W. Downs, South Side; Mrs. C. W. Utts, West Side; Mrs. A. V. Vannatta, Cameron school; Mrs. R. C. Lyon, Davidson; Mrs. Schoonover; Mrs. Meyer Aaron; Mrs. W. R. Kenner; and Mrs. D. R. VETERAN TEACHER DIES
 Abram T. Fleming in Profession 42 Years. Formerly at Scotland. G. H. GINSBURG, May 22. Abram T. Fleming, 85 years old, retired public school teacher and one of the oldest in Westmoreland county died Sunday evening at the home of his son, G. M. Fleming, Walnut street. Mr. Fleming taught for 17 years. He was the first principal of the schools of Scotland following the incorporation of the borough in 1878. His field of work was limited chiefly to East Huntingdon township at a time when that district was held to be the banner of the county and was regarded as one of the county's most successful full teachers and it was said of him that it was a rare occasion he found it necessary to use the rod to rule. For several years Mr. Fleming acted as director of music at the county institute. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and active in its affairs. Mr. Fleming's wife had been dead for 27 years. His son with whom he lived is the only surviving member of the family.

Funeral services were conducted at the home this morning. Rev. J. E. Hutchinson, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Scotland, officiating. Interment was made at Altoona.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

To maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her. "Where is my hat?" cries the boy. "What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter. "I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband. The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a back-ache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health." Mrs. J. A. McQuerry, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS HOME OF PRIEST AT EVERSON, HEAVY LOSS

Value of $10,000 to $11,000 Placed on Father Pryzbyski's Residence.

WIMATES ESCAPE UNINJURED

Home of Albert Kestler Also Struck But Little Damaged in Severe Electrical Storm; Funeral Service Held for W. A. Todd; Other News of Day.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTSDALE, May 24—Yesterday evening between 5 and 5:30 o'clock, during one of the heaviest electrical storms that has visited this community, lightning struck St. Joseph's rectory at Everson, occupied by Rev. Father Pryzbyski, and burned it to the ground. The bolt struck the wires that connected with the house and ran in on them. The loss is between $10,000 and $11,000, part of which is covered by insurance. No one in the house was injured. An alarm of fire was sent in and both the Everson and Scottsdale departments "battled" for more than an hour, but the attempt to save any part of it was futile.

Lightning also struck a chimney on the home of Albert Kestler in Pittsburgh street, throwing the bricks into the street.

W. A. Todd's Funeral.
Funeral services were held yesterday at St. John's church for the late W. A. Todd. Interment followed in the church cemetery. The active pallbearers were James Craner, J. T. Keithley, J. A. Barnhart, Frank Ponzio, Joseph Brownfield, and T. A. Quinn; the honorary bearers, W. H. Shugartman, J. W. Anwalt, C. A. Muzz, W. W. McWilliams, P. J. Torrey, P. J. O'Connor, R. M. Young, J. P. Keller, J. W. Kennedy, James P. Horne, Edward McCreary, James Lynch, M. L. Hayes, P. P. Glenn, A. P. Byrne and Robert Ramsey.

Moonlight Picnic.
David Harden of Everson gave a moonlight picnic for the Tosses Nite club at Whistle park, Coalbrook, Friday, May 20. The picnicers were conveyed by truck and automobiles. Forty guests attended. Games and other amusements were the features of the evening. At a late hour refreshments were served.

Miss Edna Wray Marries.
Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wray announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Edna Wray, to Fred Stanley Tomblor of Easton. The wedding took place at Harrisburg on Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Kestler of the Presbyterian church. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tomblor left on an eastern trip and will be at home at Harrisburg after June 1.

Summer Home Nears Completion.
The Presbyterian church is getting ready to open its summer home, Huleh Yune, at Indian Head. Work has been completed on a new dam there. An effort is being made to have work on the double church-club and the auto shed finished before the formal opening. The home is again in charge of Mrs. Ida F. Parker. She will take charge June 1. Mrs. Parker is leaving no trouble to have all available dates filled, as requests are coming from out of town so rapidly that the summer home could almost be filled with outside persons.

Few Communicable Ills.
Scottsdale at this time is in a very healthy condition. Only two communicable disease signs are up in the town, both for measles. Health Officer Goshorn has completed his inspection and feels that the town is in good condition.

Personal News.
Mrs. I. O. Leichter and baby daughter of Scottsdale spent last week at the guests of Mrs. Claude D. Nixon of Uniontown.

DENIES WOMAN IS MYSTERY
Man is Puzzling Himself for Nothing. Is Assertion Made by Writer of Gentle Sex.

After declaring to the reporters who met him in New York that the women of today care for nothing but having good time and have assumed an attitude of pagan enjoyment, the English essayist, Gilbert K. Chesterton, is reported as moving unobtrusively along the pier shaking hands with the custom officers and leaving Mrs. Chesterton to see about the baggage.

"My wife understands these things; I don't," he said, with a sweep of his stick. It is evident from the report that, although women may have changed much since before the war, as Mr. Chesterton says, some of the old-time masculine attitude toward them remains. May I illustrate this in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. In further proof of this, the Englishman goes on to speak in the same old, pre-war way about the psychology of women, using the familiar words, "I speak reverently as of a mystery, for a man never knows what a woman will do," and then he tells how she will act under certain circumstances.

The mystery about it is not in the psychology of women, but in the fact that, having supposed that a woman would act in the way most natural to all humanity, he thinks it is mysterious because a woman does it. He describes a man as likely to act the same way under similar circumstances, but does not see any mystery in the masculine point of view.

Hear, Heart: Yards Away.

An amplifying apparatus described as so delicate as to permit a physician in one city to make a stethoscopic study of the heart action of a patient hundreds of miles away, was demonstrated to a group of army and civilian medical men at the army signal corps laboratories at Washington. The principle involved is similar to that used in transmitting President Harding's inaugural address.

The demonstration was directed by Brig. Gen. George Souter, chief signal officer. The stethoscopic apparatus, with electrical connection, was placed over the heart of one of the laboratory assistants and the heart beat was amplified many thousands of times, emerging from a phonograph horn and heard distinctly and studied by the students in a room some distance from that in which the subject was seated.

THE VETERANS' CALL

In the call issued by the William P. Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic Veterans of Foreign Wars and World War Veterans to the people of Conneltsville and vicinity to solemnly and solemnly observe Memorial Day, there is a tenderness and pathos that is touching.

Realizing as the senior honored veterans do, the rapidly with which their ranks are thinning and that those who remain must themselves answer the last roll call before many more years have elapsed the appeal they made not only reflects their own serious thoughts but also shows how deeply they are impressed with the fact that the day is passing by when they have done their duty and must perform the beautiful custom which brought the G. A. R. into existence as an organization.

Remembering only those who have gone on before, and seeking to do honor to their memory the living veterans make a request that should meet with ready response on the part of every citizen and create within them both the desire and the will to make the solemn observance of Memorial Day all that the veterans wish it may be. It will be such if we give due appreciation of the sentiments expressed in that portion of the call which says:

"Memory quickens as we think of the approach of Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, which will be the last day of the year when our comrades who have passed over the great divide, let us rather than their passionate grief, strew them with the flowers of spring and place above them the flag they loved and for which they gave their strength, and yielded up their lives."

"The day is sacred to all patriotic organizations and should be so treated by all who enjoy the blessings and benefits of their heroic services and sacrifices. Let us invite all who love their country to take part in their tribute to our dead, especially the children who will be impressed by this object lesson in patriotism."

"Let us urge the suspension of business, the postponement of all amusements, so that the day may be kept sacred to those who gave the last full measure of devotion to the land they loved."

As a form of respect to both the dead and the living heroes, and also as our duty to the younger generations who look to us as exemplars of the patriotism we so proudly proclaim, therefore, let us do our part upon this occasion to observe it in the spirit which befits the day and makes it one of hallowed memory to those whose names are so steadily decreasing.

AND NOW, EARLY.

It may seem a little early to think of preparing for the November election but it is not too early to remind voters, especially those who have to be urged again and again of the important duty of registration.

The day and night among the voters always take the necessary steps in qualifying at the very earliest opportunity and thus avoid all the dangers incurred by those who delay. They are already doing in their minds the fact that Thursday September 1 is the first of the three days upon which voters in the third-class cities attempt to personal registration. When that date arrives the forthright voters will repair to the polling places to enroll, establish their residence and produce proof of their payment of taxes and otherwise qualify as electors at the November election.

The jobs thoughtful voters will do: this duty until Tuesday, September 6 the second registration day. Still others and usually those who need to be most frequently reminded, of their duty as citizens, will wait until about 9:59 P. M. of Saturday, September 17, the third and last day, and the last hour of that minute of the day to do what is most important—they could and should have done nine or 10 days previously.

There is, of course, not the same degree of general interest in the election this fall as there was in 1918 but to the voters of Conneltsville it is of vast importance and concern. A mayor, a city council and members of the school board are to be elected—the officials which are for form a new city administration, conduct its affairs and spend the taxpayers' money with wisdom and discretion or the reverse according to the character and qualifications of the men selected to fill these offices.

That class of voters who are most interested, as a rule, in placing men in office who frequently lack the most essential, and sometimes all the qualifications necessary to act to the preliminary. Unless those voters who have the best interests of the city instead of individuals at heart are equally diligent in registering and paying taxes, they will find on election day that they are returning to the polls to find the failure of the good citizens to discharge their obligations to themselves and the community.

It is therefore not too early to begin to think about and prepare to do the things that will prevent such a failure.

DISPLAYING THE FLAG

Persons engaged in promoting or conducting entertainments, public gatherings and meetings of all kinds throughout the state of Pennsylvania and proprietors of places where such gatherings are held will do well to bear in mind that a law was enacted by the last legislature and signed by Governor Sproul, which requires the displaying of the American flag upon all such occasions.

Failing to comply with the provisions of the law which also requires that the flag be kept reasonably clean and in good repair subjects the offenders to a fine not exceeding $100.

Whatever fine may be imposed ought to be much less of penalty than the disgrace attending the failure of the citizen to show the loyalty in so simple a manner as displaying the national emblem on every fitting and proper occasion.

Old Scout Files Claim

They very much fear in the office of the quartermaster general at Washington that some western war has been trying to have a little fun with the Army. If he is spoiling the War Department Charles Steinhilber, certainly has succeeded for half a dozen veteran clerks of the quartermaster corps have been melodiously searching his files of the last hundred years in the hope of finding some record that Charles served as an Indian scout from 1812 almost to date.

Charles wants some compensation for his century of service now that he is retired at the age of 170 and he plaintively asks if he must wait another 300 years which rather indicates that his financial difficulties are not very pressing.

And poor Joe, living thus, Thorpe Wash.

First you will find to excuse my writing as I only learned to write after I was 100 years old. I am now 130. I am a Quaker and Benito, Indian, he reason of me writing to you is this. I have loved the American Army near on to 80 years and an Indian scout cutting and spying for the Army and I have never drawn any pay for my services, on account of some of them army officers not turning in my name for my services.

My first service was with General Jackson at New Orleans fighting the British Redoubt, then fighting in Middle West after the Indian. I was with General Scott in the old Mexican war then scouting on the plains. I was with a J. Smith thru the civil war then back west on the plains and Rocky mountains after the Indians. I went to Cuba with Colonel Roosevelt as a scout with them Hunt Riders and done my part to help whip the Spaniards. I have never been paid for my transportation home, so I had to get and work in cane fields and sugar mills until I could get enough to build me a good light canoe in which I came back to the Mississippi river and up to St. Louis and on up the Missouri river to Great Falls, Montana where I prospect for 100 years and came on over to this place to lay old time white friends house where I stay most of the time his grandfathers and I were boys together.

Can not you bring it to pass so I can get just recompense for my services to this old beloved country for all the years of toil and hardships I have passed thru in my country's service? I must I fight another 100 years.

Respectfully,
Charles Steinhilber

Are You Buying to Best Advantage?

Never before has the consumer of merchandise been in greater need of rigid and practical economy than now. You would hardly approve of paying more money for an article at one place, if you could get it elsewhere at a substantial saving.

Then get your purchasing down to a business basis.

A good income maybe easily thrown away. It is not the money one makes, but the money saved, that counts. There is no better way to save money than thru the exercising of good judgment in the things we buy—this means buying where not only goods of recognized quality may be had, but where they may be had the cheapest. Every Union Supply Company store is a vivid example of just such an opportunity for saving money on your purchases. Let us prove this fact.

Two Games For Memorial Day,
One In Morning, Other Afternoon.

TEAM SATISFIES THE FANS

Connellsville baseball fans are far from being disappointed over the showing of the independent baseball team against Irwin last Saturday. In fact, fans are enthused over the out-put and from talk heard in various quarters of the city there is a belief that with more practice together it will develop one that can hold its own with any in the field.

The strong comeback after the first inning, handicapped by four runs, all made while the team was attempting to impress the supporters of the team. The last eight innings, while slow, proved that the lineup contained some good ball players, as that the men could "swat the ball."

On Saturday the Kelly & Jones team of Greensburg will be here. Kelly & Jones has always been represented by a strong line, and this season will prove no exception. Then on Monday there will be two games, both with the Homestead Grays. After playing these three in a row, it is felt that the outfit will show some real class.

The North End Tornadoes defeated the Arch Street Bear Cats last night, 7-6. The Bear Cats took a nice lead in the opening frame and held it until the seventh inning when the Tornadoes annexed four runs. The Tornadoes would like to book games, call Dell 591.

Games with baseball teams in the coke region for Thursday, Saturday and Memorial Day are desired by Harry Thorne of Dunbar, Teams wishing to schedule his outfit call 9098 Dell, Dunbar, or W. A. White 90 or 74 Dell, Dunbar. Any amateur boxers in the county desiring bouts should also call these men.

The C. I. C. class of the First Presbyterian church and Mr. Osborn's class of the same church will play at Fayette Field tonight. The game having been moved up from Thursday evening. The contest will be called at 6 o'clock.

All games in the National league being postponed yesterday, because of hard rains, it was impossible to chalk up another victory for the Pirates.

One thing will be missed at next Saturday's game—the Baltimore & Ohio railroad band. This organization headed last Saturday's parade.

Another parade may be held on June 2 when the church league opens.

The C. I. C. class team of the First Presbyterian church has elected Walter Morison, captain, and James M. Priscott, business manager.

All baseball candidates of the United Presbyterian church are requested to meet at the church on Wednesday evening.

Outfielder Johnny Frierson has been given his unconditional release by the Memphis club.

WON'T LOAN HIS GLOVE.

Superstition plays a big part in the playing of "Jesse" Northrup of the Milwaukee club. Northrup thinks all his luck is tied up in his glove. He won't lend it to any of his teammates.
He thinks that if somebody even touches his glove during the game he's pitching he'll lose. After pitching he folds his glove up tightly and carries it to the bench with him.
To him his glove is a precious treasure. He treats it as though it were a personal friend.
Many ball players are superstitious about lending their bats. Northrup is the first one who ever treated a glove from the same angle.

Production of Explosives Made Big Gain in 1920

The total production, excluding exports, of explosives in the United States during the year 1920, according to reports from the United States Bureau of Mines has reached from manufacturers, was 537,954,750 pounds, an increase of 120,329,289 pounds, or 29 per cent over the total output in 1919.
The production for 1920 is segregated as follows: Black blasting powder, 254,878,825 pounds; "high" explosives other than permissible explosives, 228,112,064 pounds; and permissible explosives, 53,962,841 pounds. As compared with 1919, these figures represent an increase of 41 per cent for black powder, 15 per cent for high explosives, and 31 per cent for permissible explosives.

The reports show that all classes of explosives used larger quantities of explosives in 1920 than in 1919, the principal increase being in coal mining. This industry ordinarily consumes over 80 per cent of the total production of black powder and permissible explosives and 15 per cent of high explosives or over half of these three classes combined. The large increase in the quantity of explosives used at coal mines was occasioned by the greater output of coal during the past year, the quantity being 145 million tons, or nearly 100 million tons in excess of the output in 1919.

THE SOISSON.

"MY LADY'S LATCHKEY"—A First National picture, with Katherine MacDonald, known as the American beauty of the screen, is being presented today. It is a worthwhile drama that will be enjoyed by all to whom a well-produced and fascinating screen play appeals. The plot opens aboard an ocean greyhound where Ruthven Smith, the trusted international representative of a big diamond merchant, is guarding a rare collection of gems on their way to London. In the stillness of the night a shadowy figure mysteriously enters Smith's stateroom and after applying chloroform to the sleeper's nose departs with the precious jewel belt. In London, Annesley Gracie, tired of a drab, five years' existence spent in a house of gloom with her aunt, Mrs. Ellsworth, answers a newspaper advertisement for a traveling companion to an elderly lady, and is hopeful of breaking away from her present monotonous life. Awaiting the "elderly lady" in the Hotel Savoy, she is accosted by a young man, ostensibly an American, who, in apparent trouble, begs Annesley to save him by pretending to be his wife. She is attracted at this proposal but the man's distress appears so great that she agrees. The young man gives his name as Nelson Smith; the two young people depart for Annesley's home, which by a coincidence is also the London home of Ruthven Smith. The latter, thinking that Nelson is another robber, fires point blank at him.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"IT ISN'T BEING DONE THIS SEASON."—With Corinne Griffith, is a picture of spectacular splendor. It is an exciting story of adventure in New York and Smyrna, the little land in Southern Europe which has been the plaything of politics for a thousand years, sometimes belonging to Greece, sometimes to Turkey. Through all the strife and turmoil of ten centuries the wonderful rugs of Smyrna have held the interest of a large part of the population more strongly than politics. Indeed, struggles to obtain rare and beautiful specimens of Smyrna's most imposing product have affected the political fortunes of the land profoundly. Many murders have been committed in the course of struggle for the possession of rugs. George Hunt was an American, except in his feeling about rugs. In that respect, he might have been a Turkish, Armenian or Greek dealer. He took his beautiful young wife to Smyrna on their honeymoon, and she discovered that he was thinking more about rugs than about her. Hoping to obtain an exclusive agency for the rugs of Smyrna, he set out on a journey. He was a wealthy and powerful Turk. Hunt concealed his displeasure at the "Oriental" dignitary's marked and somewhat forthright attention to Mafoia, Toinorow and Thursday Barie Williams, who were seen in "Diamonds Adrift."

THE ORPHEUM.

"ALWAYS AUDACIOUS."—A Paramount picture, with Wallace Reid in the leading role, is today's feature attraction. In his latest starring vehicle, Mr. Reid portrays the strongest and most virile role, or rather two roles, he has ever attempted. This is not a part in which Mr. Reid is seen as himself and his twin, but he portrays both the hero and the heavy, the latter being a crook who causes the hero to be placed in his wealthy victim's society. The star actually battles with himself, a wonderful photographic feat possible only by the double exposure method, but so skillfully done as to amaze every beholder. There is romance galore in the story and it is of that gripping quality which is bound to hold the attention of the audiences to the very finish, which by the way, will amaze everybody. The crook scheme for accumulating wealth, and on a dark night, after making elaborate preparations, he shambles the millionaire and steps into his home and social life, even continuing the millionaire's affair with his sweetheart. Impossible as it may seem, it is the millionaire who wears the beard, the reason being that he returns to San Francisco penniless after being shanghaied and gets back only by working his way as a sailor on a tramp steamer. The film is an amazing surprise. Tomorrow Owen Moore will be seen in "Piccadilly Jim."

WEST END THEATRE.

Mrs. E. R. Brown, Red Cross, Pa.

Uniontown, for the three days beginning next Thursday night. Following the opening the engagement continues with matinees each afternoon at 2:15 and night presentations starting at 8:30. The picture spectacle is an evolution of the familiar play of the same title by Lottie Blair Parker which toured America with unvarying success for many years. This statement is inadequate to convey the wonders that Griffith has worked out of this simple theme of plain people in a typical New England community. By his inimitable device of contrasts this master of the screen refreshes the eye, delights with humor of the soil, reflects the four seasons of the year in a country of pastoral charm, showing the freshness of spring, the waving shadows of summer, the colors of a New England autumn and the rigors of winter in that stern center, relieved by sleighing parties, hard dances and bucolic diversions that carry one back in tender memories to the days that are ineffaceable. It's all so human and yet thrillingly dramatic or exquisitely illustrative and running through it is a holding story of love and lovers kept tossed in doubt by the realities of those stern conventions which saw things in only one light and made little allowances for fallible humans whose fate carries the stirring events to the greatest dramatic climax ever seen in a theatre. This scene where David follows Anna through the blinding storm and finally rescues her from the ice floe just as it is about to plunge over the falls is in the matter of sheer effect of tenseness and thrill indeed a triumph. It is Griffith at his best and those familiar with his touch know what means.

Lady Grateful for Help Received

"For 15 years I suffered increasingly with stomach and liver trouble. Bloating with gas distressed me very much and caused serious heart fluttering. All medicine only relieved temporarily. I gave up hope of ever being cured. My druggist advised me one day to try May's Wonderful Remedy. I am feeling like a new woman now and can now eat anything with no ill results. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ## The practice of thrift is opposed to penuriousness

Thrift—in its real sense, is big and broad and fair minded, ever ready to listen and learn of things that may prove helpful and beneficial. Thrift teaches that the best use of money is to use it for good purposes—to make it bring returns in comfort and happiness.

Thrift is opposed to littleness and narrowness and penuriousness. Thrift teaches that proper expenditure is just as needful as proper saving—and that many times it is more "thrifty" to spend than to save.

When you use good judgment in buying when you are assured a good equivalent for your money—when you know there is no chance of loss—then you are practicing thrift—in its true sense.

The Frederick Thrift Club Encourages Careful Buying

You have dreamed of music in your home some day—you have hoped to own a really good piano, or player piano—feeling it would prove a good investment and well worth the money.

But—that "but" has kept you from buying. And there are many such in this city. So we have organized The Frederick Thrift Plan of purchase in order to eliminate the "buts."

Now—we say to you—you haven't another excuse in the world! We can meet and overcome every objection you can raise against the advisability of buying. Because we have devised a plan without fault!

Note the many advantages to Thrift Club Members

Prices and payments, terms and conditions, savings and benefits—all arranged on a most liberal basis, on instruments purchased through this Thrift Club.

And such instruments! The well known Francis Bacon make—pianos of recognized musical merit with established reputation. A ten-year guarantee with every instrument.

Let us repeat—the more prudent minded you happen to be in money matters, the more you will appreciate the benefits and economies of this Thrift Plan. Come in and—SEE.

GOVERNMENT DID TOO MUCH FIXING WAGES AND PRICES

Hence the Present Plight of the Railroads of the Country.

WAGES MUST COME DOWN

In Order That Expenses Can Be Brought Within the Limits of Income: Labor, Material and Supplies Amount 67.5 Cents of Every Dollar.

"The Transportation Act has not broken down," said T. DeWitt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, before the Senate committee which is making an inquiry into the railroad situation. "The present difficulties of the railroads are not due to the Transportation Act, and the Transportation Act provides effective machinery for remedying, in so far as it may be done by national legislation, the difficulties in which the railroads now find themselves."

"The railroad managers regret that the operation of inexorable economic laws makes it necessary that railroad wages should be reduced. But the railroad managers have no fight with their employees and the supreme aim of every railroad management in America today is to establish its relationship with its employees on a basis of friendliness and cooperation, which will result in work at satisfactory wages for the largest possible number of men and in an efficient and economical service to the public."

"The Interstate Commerce Commission has a clear understanding that the purchases by the Railroad Administration during federal control, but used by the railroads at the prices paid, or contracted by the government to be paid, are fixed by the government."

"In other words, that the government prescribes the charges from which the operating revenues of the carriers come, and likewise fixes the wages which constitute more than 64 per cent of the operating expenses, and that the price of the necessary materials and supplies which the carriers must have, are fixed either by the government as above stated or by economic forces beyond the power of the carriers to control."

"As has been shown, 64 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses were, in 1920, paid out to labor, and the wages of labor are fixed by the government."

"Out of every dollar of operating expenses, during the year 1920, 30 cents were paid out for materials and supplies."

"The government operated the roads for two months of 1920 and accordingly agreed to the prices of materials and supplies for these months, as well as incurred all of the other operating expenses for these months."

"The government also purchased or contracted for a large quantity of materials and supplies which were passed over to the carriers on the return of the properties, and these materials and supplies, as need, were charged into the operating expenses for 1920 at prices fixed for the carriers by the government in making the purchases."

"It is conservatively estimated that one-half of the materials and supplies used in the year 1920 were thus necessarily charged into the operating expenses for that year at prices fixed for the carriers by the government."

"Accordingly, 15 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses for 1920
were paid out for materials and supplies at prices thus fixed for the carriers by the government."

"All operating expenses (other than for labor and material and supplies) for the first two months of 1920 amounted to about 25 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses for the year. Those were incurred by the government, and not by the carriers."

"This means that the 64 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses were paid for labor at prices fixed by the government; that 15 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses was paid for materials and supplies at prices fixed by the government; and that 2.5 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses for the year 1920 was paid for other expenses incurred by the government in the first two months of 1920, for a total of 32.5 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses for the year 1920 was paid out at prices directly fixed by the government itself."

"The remaining materials and supplies used during the year 1920 were purchased by the carriers at prices fixed by the general market conditions and beyond their power to control and which cost 15 cents out of every dollar of expense."

"In other words, prices fixed by the government or by market conditions cover 97.5 cents out of every dollar of operating expenses."

"It follows that the efforts to control expenses during that year were of necessity almost wholly confined to obtaining better results from labor and economical use and consumption of materials and supplies."

"The difficulty of this task, in the midst of extensive unrest and disorganization of labor and of disturbed economic conditions generally, cannot be easily exaggerated."

ROGERS HORNSBY IS BATTING LEADER OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

A new and excellent photograph of Rogers Hornsby, star third base man of the St. Louis Cardinals and batting king of the National League.
Fans are wondering if he will again head the list at the close of the 1921 season. Hornsby is one of the most sought after players in the game.
The New York Giants, it is said, offered more than $200,000 for him during the past winter. The record offer was refused by the St. Louis club.

A MAN FOR THE AGES

A STORY OF THE BUILDERS OF DEMOCRACY
BY IRVING BACHELLER

The house and barn were finished, therefore Samson and Harry drove to Springfield—a muddy, crude and growing village with thick woods on its north side—and bought furniture. Their wagon was loaded and they were ready to start for home. They were walking on the main street when Harry touched Samson's arm and whispered:

"There's McNeill and Gaillyan."

The pair were walking a few steps ahead of Samson and Harry. In a second Samson's big hand was on McNeill's shoulder.

"This is Mr. McNeill, I believe," said Samson.

The other turned with a scared look.

"What do you want of me?" he demanded.

Samson threw him to the ground, with a jerk so strong and violent that it rent the sleeve from his shoulder. McNeill's companion, who had felt the weight of Samson's hand and had had enough of it, turned and ran.

"What do you want of me?" McNeill asked again as he struggled to free himself.

"What do I want of you—you puny little coward," said Samson, as he lifted the bully to his feet and gave him a toss and swung him in the air and continued to address him. "I'm just going to muss you up proper. If you don't say you're sorry and mean it, I'll put a tow-string on your neck and give you to some one that wants a dog."

"I'm Just Goin' to Muss You Up Proper."

"I'm sorry," said McNeill. "Honest I am. I won't do it any more."

Samson released his prisoner. A number in the crowd which had gathered around them clapped their hands and shouted, "Hurrah for the stranger!"

A constable took Samson's hand and said: "You deserve a vote of thanks. That man and his friends have made me more trouble than all the rest of the drinking men put together."

"And I'm making trouble for myself," said Samson. "I have made myself ashamed. I'm no fighting man. I was never in such a muss on a public street before and with God's help it will never happen again."

"Where do you live?" the officer asked.

"In New Salem."

"I wish it was here. We need men like you."

Samson wrote in his diary:

"On the way home my heart was sore. I prayed in silence that God would forgive me for my bad example to the boys. I promised that I would not again misuse the strength He has given me. In my old home I would have been disgraced by it. The minister would have preached of the destruction that follows the violent man to put him down; the people would have looked askance at me. Deacon Somers would have called me aside to look into my soul, and Judge Grandy and his wife would not have invited me to their parties. Here it's different. A chap who can take the law in his hands and bring the evil man to his senses, even if he has to hit him over the head, is looked up to. It's a reckless country. You feel it as soon as you get here. In time I fear I shall be as headstrong as the rest of them. Some way the news of my act has got here from Springfield. Sarah was kind of cut up. Jack Kelso has nicknamed me 'The man with the iron arm,' and Abe, who is a better man every way, laughs at my embarrassment and says I ought to feel honored. For one thing Jack Armstrong has become a good citizen. His wife has faded a pair of breeches for Abe. They say McNeill has left the country. There has been no further news since that day. I guess the gang is broken up—so much for my way."

Sarah enjoyed fitting up the cabin. Jack Kelso had given her some red and blue skirts to lay on the floors. The upper room, reached by a stick ladder, had its two beds, one of which Harry occupied. The children slept below in a trundle bed that was pushed under the larger one when it was made up in the morning.

"Some time I'm going to put in a windmill and get rid of that stick ladder," Samson had said.

Sarah had all the arts of the New England home maker. Under her hand the cabin, in color, atmosphere and general neatness, would have delighted a higher taste than was to be found in the primitive save in the brain of Kelo, who really had some acquaintance with beauty. To be sure the bed was in one corner, spread with its upper cover knit of gray yarn harmonizing in color with the bark of the log walls. A handsome dark brown buffalo robe lay beside it. The life and powder horn were hung above the mantel. The fireplace had its crane of wrought iron.

Every one in the little village came to the house warming. The people were in their best clothes. The women wore dresses of new calico—save Mrs. Doctor Allen, who wore a black silk dress which had come with her from her late home in Lexington. Bim Kelso came in a dress of red muslin trimmed with white lace. Ann Rutledge also wore a red dress and came with Abe. The latter was father grotesque in his new linsey trousers, of a better length than the former pair, but still too short.

"It isn't fair to blame the trousers or the tailor," he had said when he had tried them on. "My legs are so long that the imagination of the tailor is sure to fall short if the cloth don't. Next time I'll have 'em made to measure with a ten-foot pole instead of a yardstick. If they're too long I can roll 'em up and let out a little or two when they shrink. Ever since I was a boy I have been troubled with shrinking pants."

Abe wore a blue swallow-tail coat with brass buttons, the tails of which were so short as to be well above the danger of pressure when he sat down. His cowhide shoes had been well blackened; the blue turn of his socks showed above them. "These darned socks of mine are rather proud and conceited," he used to say. "They like to show off."

He wore a shirt of white, unbleached cotton, a starched collar and black tie.

In speaking of his collar to Samson, he said that he felt like a wild horse in a box.

Meator, Graham, the schoolmaster, was there—a smooth-faced man with a large head, sandy hair and a small mustache, who spoke by note, as it were. Kelso called him the great articulator and said that he walked in the valley of the shadow of Lindsey Murray. He seemed to keep a watchful eye on his words, as if they were a lot of schoolboys not to be trusted. They came out with a kind of self-conscious rectitude.

The children's games had begun and the little house, rung with their songs and laughter, while their elders sat by the fire and along the walls talking. Ann Rutledge and Bim Kelso and Harry Kelso and John McNeill played with them. In one of the dances all joined in singing the verses:

I won't have none o' yer weevily wheat,
I won't have none o' yer weevily wheat,
I won't have none o' yer weevily wheat,
I won't have none o' yer weevily wheat.

When a victim was caught in the flying scurrying, at the end of a passage in the game of Prisoners, he or she was brought before the blindfolded judge.

"Heavy, heavy hangs over your head," said the constable.

"Fine or superfine?" the judge inquired.

"Fine," said the constable, which meant that the victim was a boy. Then the sentence was pronounced and generally it was this:

"Go bow to the whitest, kneel to the prettiest and kiss the one that you love best."

Harry was the first prisoner. He went straight to Bim Kelso and bowed and knelt, and when he had risen she turned and ran like a scared deer around the chairs and the crowd of onlookers, some assisting and some checking her flight, before the nimble youth. Hard pressed, she ran out of the open door, with a merry laugh, and just beyond the steps Harry caught and kissed her, and her cheeks had the color of roses when he led her back.

John McNeill kissed Ann Rutledge that evening and was most attentive to her, and the women were saying that the two had fallen in love with each other.

"See how she looks at him," one of them whispered.

"Well, it's just the way he looks at her," the other answered.

At the first pause in the merriment Samson stood on a chair, and then silence fell upon the little company.

"My good neighbors," he began, "we are here to rejoice that new friends have come to us and that a new house is born in our midst. We bid them welcome. They are big-boned, big-hearted folks. No man has grown larger who has not at one time or another had his feet in the soil and felt its magic power going up into his blood and bone and sinew. Here is a wonderful soil and the inspiration of wide horizons; here are broad and fertile fields. Where the corn grows high you can grow stoutness. It may be that out—"

He was interrupted by a loud laugh from the crowd.

"What's that?" he asked.

"That's the way you look at her," said one of the women.

"That's the way she looks at him," said another.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a third.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a fourth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a fifth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a sixth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a seventh.

"That's the way they look at each other," said an eighth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a ninth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a tenth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said an eleventh.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a twelfth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a thirteenth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a fourteenth.

"That's the way they look at each other," said a fifteenth.

ine a man will come to carry the torch of Liberty and Justice so high that its light will shine into every dark place. So let no one despise the cabin humble as it is. Samson and Sarah Taylor, I welcome and congratulate you. Whatever may come, you can find no better friends than these, and of this you may be sure, no child of the prairies will ever go about with a head organ and a monkey. Our friend, Honest Abe, is one of the few rich men in this neighborhood. Among his assets are Kirkham's Grammar, 'The Pilgrim's Progress,' the 'Lives of Washington and Henry Clay,' 'Hatter's Soliloquy,' 'Othello's Speech to the Senate,' 'Mare Anthony's Address' and a part of 'Webster's Reply to Hayne.' A man came along the other day and sold him a barrel of rubbish for two bits. In it he found a volume of 'Blackstone's Commentaries.' Old Blackstone challenged him to a wrestle and Abe has grappled with him. I reckon he'll take his measure as easily as he took Jack Armstrong's. Lately he has got possession of a noble asset. It is 'The Celler's Saturday Night,' by Robert Burns. I propose to ask him to let us share his enjoyment of this treasure."

Abe, who had been sitting with his legs doubled beneath him on a buffalo skin, between Joe and Betsey Taylor, rose and said:

"Mr. Kelso's remarks, especially the part which applied to me, remind me of the story of the prosperous grocer of Joliet. One Saturday night he and his boys were sitting at the table. Suddenly in came a man with whom he had quarreled and laid two dead cats on the counter.

"There," said he, "this makes seven today. I'll call Monday and get my money."

"We were doing a good business here making fun. It seems a pity to ruin it and throw suspicion on the quality of the goods by throwing a cat on the counter."

This raised a storm of indignation, after which he noticed the young of Burns, with keen appreciation of its quality. Samson repeatedly writes of the comic, and now and then lays particular stress on his power of mimicry.

John Cameron sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill" and "Forty Years Ago, Tom." Samson played while the older people danced until midnight. Then, after noisy farewells, men, women and children started in the moonlight toward the village. Ann Rutledge had Abe on one arm and John McNeill on the other.

CHAPTER VI.

Which Describes the Lonely Life in a Prairie Cabin and a Stirring Adventure on the Underground Railroad About the Time It Began Operations.

When Samson paid Mr. Gollaber, a "detector" came with the letter to look at the money before it was accepted. There were many counterfeiters and bills good only at a certain discount of face value going about those days and the detector was in great request. Directly after moving in, Samson dug a well and lined it with a hollow log. He bought tools and another team and then he and Harry began their fall plowing. Day after day for weeks they paced with their turning furrows until a hundred acres, stretching half a mile to the west and well to the north of the house, were black with them. Fever and ague descended upon the little home in the early winter.

In a letter to his wife, dated January 4th, 1832, Sarah writes:

"We have been looking for news from home, but not a word has come from you. It don't seem as if we could stand it unless we hear from you or some of the folks once in a while. We are not dead just because we are a thousand miles away. We want to hear from you. Please write and let us know how father and mother are and all the news. We have all been sick with the fever and ague. It is a beautiful country and the soil is very rich, but there is some sickness. Samson and I were both sick at the same time. I never knew Samson to give up before. He couldn't go on his head school so. Little Joe helped me get the fire started and brought some water and waited on us. Harry Needles had gone away to Springfield for Mr. Offutt with a drove of hogs. 'Two other boys are with him. He is going to buy a new suit. He is a very proud boy. Joe and Betsey got back with the doctor at night. What night Abe Lincoln came and sat up with us and gave us our medicine and kept the fire going. It was comical to see him lying beside Joe in his trundle bed, with his long legs sticking over the end of it and his feet standing on the floor about a yard from the bed. He was spread all over the place. He talked about religion and his views would shock most of our friends in the East. He doesn't believe in the kind of Heaven that the ministers talk about or any eternal hell. He says that nobody knows anything about the hereafter, except that God is a kind and forgiving father and that all men are His children. He says that we can only serve God by serving each other. He seems to think that every man, good or bad, black or white, rich or poor, is his brother. He thinks that Henry Clay, next to Daniel Webster, is the greatest man in the country. He is studying hard. Expects to go out and make speeches for Clay next summer. He is quite severe in his talk against General Jackson. He and Samson agree in politics and religion. They are a good deal alike. He is very fond of Samson and Harry—calls them his partners. We love this big awkward giant. His feet are set in the straight way and we think that he is going to make his mark in the world."

"You said you would come out next spring to look about. Please don't disappoint us. I think it would almost break my heart. I am counting the days. Don't be afraid of fever and ague. Springfield's pills cure it in three or four days. I would take the steamboat at Pittsburgh; the roads in Ohio and Indiana are so bad. You can get a steamer up the Illinois river at Alton and get off at Beardstown and drive across country. If we knew when you were coming Samson or Abe would meet you. Give our love to all the folks and friends."

"Yours affectionately,
"Sarah and Samson."

It had been a cold winter and not easy to keep comfortable in the little house. In the worst weather Samson had used to get up at night to keep the fire going. Late in January a wind from the southeast melted the snow and warmed the air of the midlands so that, for a week or so, it seemed as if spring were come. One night of this week Samson awoke the family with his barking. A strong wind was rushing across the plains and roaring over the cabin and walling in its chimney. Suddenly there was a rap on its door. When Samson opened it he saw in the moonlight a young colored man and woman standing near the doorstep.

"Is this Mistah Taylor?" the young man asked.

"Yes," said Samson. "What can I do for you?"

"Mistah, de good Lord done fetched us here to ask you fo' help," said the negro. "We be nigh gone out with cold an' hunger, mistah. 'Godd' we be."

MAY BE PROUD OF RECORD OF NAVY IN WORLD WAR

including 70 destroyers, five gunboats, five coast guard cutters, 120 submarine chasers, 27 armed yachts, 12 submarines, 12 mine sweepers, 10 mine planters, eight battleships, three cruisers, 16 tugs, four cross-channel transports, 55 vessels carrying coal for the army, 18 tenders and repair ships and seven vessels of miscellaneous types. In addition, there were 50 other vessels assigned to the European force then undergoing repairs or being prepared to go into commission. So that the total number assigned to the European force was over 400.

Big Force Engaged.

Over 80,000 officers and men of the navy were in service in Europe. Thirty thousand marines were sent overseas for service with the army and 1,600 for naval duty ashore. That makes a total of over 112,000 officers and men of the navy and marine corps that were in service in Europe.

But that by no means covers all the service we performed for the Allies and our own forces in Europe. The entire cruiser and transport force, with its 82 vessels manned by 2,000 officers and 41,000 men; and the naval overseas transportation service, with 378 vessels in operation manned by 4,802 officers and 29,175 men, were in trans-Atlantic service carrying troops and supplies to our armies and our allies. Practically all the merchant ships and others which carried naval armed guards and navy guns were carrying food, materials and other articles to allied countries. The navy armed 384 merchant and cargo ships, and 30,000 of the navy personnel were, at one time or another, engaged in this service.

220,000 Officers and Men.

Thus, a total of 331 vessels and approximately 220,000 officers and men of the United States Navy and Marine Corps were engaged either in actual European service or in trans-Atlantic service to and from Europe. That is almost three times as many as were in the entire navy and Marine Corps before the war.

But that was not nearly all we were preparing to do, and would have done, if the war had continued into 1919, as was expected. Many thousands of men were in training to man the new destroyers and other vessels we were building, and the hundreds of the shipyard had under construction. Our war building program included a thousand vessels of all types, from battleships to submarine chasers. We contracted for 275 destroyers in 1917. The building was breaking all records in construction, a number had been completed and put into service before the armistice. But we were just reaching the peak of production when they would be turned out by the score. The shipyard was building cargo ships so rapidly that the total number of vessels already assigned to the naval overseas transportation service was 490, which would bring that fleet up to a total of 3,890,000 deadweight tons. And we would have been called upon to man hundreds more, had the war continued another year.

600,000 Men in Navy.

The navy had grown by the time of the armistice, to a force of over 600,000, including marines. Beginning with 4376 officers and 62,667 men in the regular navy when war was declared, and 13,000 reserves and naval militia, the total increased to 552,931, including the 6,000 of the coast guard. The Marine Corps grew from 13,725 to a total force of 75,000. Recruiting and training this immense personnel, the largest by many thousands ever possessed by any navy, was a tremendous task, and it was accomplished with a success that surprised even our allies. It well merited the tribute of Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the British admiralty, who said:

"The dauntless determination which the United States has displayed in creating a huge, trained body of seamen out of landmen is one of the most striking accomplishments of the war. Had it not been effectively done, one would have thought it impossible."

Great Work at Camps.

But only those who did it can know of the work required to build huge camps like Great Lakes, near Chicago; Hampton Roads, and others—to take raw recruits, most of whom had never seen the ocean, and in a few months train them as seamen, gunners, signalmen, aviators and for all the many duties of naval service, and to build them all into a fighting force in 18 months.

The navy manned and operated over 2,000 vessels, more than five times as many as were in naval service previous to the war. The larger number were troopships, cargo transports, patrol vessels and district craft. But the number of naval vessels and auxiliaries in service at the armistice was 774, as compared with 242 on April 6, 1917. Between January 1, 1917, and October 1, 1919, 645 vessels were built. Most of these were, of course, submarine chasers and mine sweepers, but the number included three battleships, 139 destroyers, 57 submarines and 52 engine patrol boats.

Big Ship Yards Built.

To build these vessels new facilities had to be created—new shipyards, new plants to build engines and forgings and all the complicated machinery to propel and operate vessels. Early in the war we contracted for every destroyer the yards could build. Then, in October, 1917, we began enlarging old plants and building new ones, to produce 150 more destroyers. By that time we had contracted for 270 of these swift and capable vessels, the greatest enemy of the submarine. At Squantum, Mass., we built the largest destroyer plant in the world, and in six months after ground was broken in that swampy location I witnessed the laying of the keels of five destroyers there in one day. Before the war, from 30 months to two years were required to complete a destroyer. We turned out

GAINS 22 POUNDS SOLID WEIGHT

This Remarkable Gain Made by J. D. Douglas, Gives Proof of the Wonderful Powers of NERV-WORTH as a Strengthener and Builder. Let It Build Up Your Before Colder Weather Comes.

"I weighed only 128 pounds after recovering from the 'flu' last year," said J. D. Douglas, Cantonburg, Pa. "I had no appetite and was very weak. My wife induced me to try NERV-WORTH, which I did, and the first bottle helped me so much that I bought another and during this time some of them during the war in a fraction of that time. The Ward, at Mare Island, was launched in 17½ days after its keel was laid, and commissioned in 71 days. Others were completed in a few months. But we were just reaching the peak of production when hostilities ended.

The navy built more than 400 submarine chasers, 50 of which were turned over to the French government and 50 more built on its order. The navy converted 1,597 merchant vessels, yachts and other craft for naval purposes. This work was continuous all during the war. Navy yards and plants were enlarged and turned out an enormous amount of repair and conversion work, as well as building ships of all types. The number of navy yard employees was more than doubled, running to nearly 80,000.

The navy built up an aviation force of more than 45,000, of whom 19,000 served in Europe, where we had 31 aviation units, including 27 bases and stations, in operation, on the coasts of France, England, Ireland and Italy, and in the Azores. An aerial patrol of the United States Atlantic coast from Nova Scotia to the Gulf was maintained. The navy built and operated its own aircraft factory at Philadelphia. At the end of hostilities our aviation equipment included 1,835 flying boats, 242 land planes, 15 dirigibles, 205 kite balloons and 10 free balloons. We had sent to Europe 570 aircraft before the armistice.

Cost $11,000 to Europe.

The navy transported to Europe 11,000 American troops, and brought back from Europe some 1,700,000. Of the 2,079,880 American troops sent to Europe 1,729,360—82.75 per cent—sailed under escort of United States naval vessels. The navy built, transported and operated with the American and French armies six naval railway batteries of 14-inch guns, the most powerful artillery used by the Allies on the western front, and the largest guns that, up to that time, had ever been placed on mobile mounts.

The navy supplied 5,532 guns to 1,885 vessels of which guns 2,362 were of three-inch caliber or larger. In addition it furnished 32 guns of various calibers to the Allies.

The navy organized and operated the most extensive radio system in existence, maintaining communication with Europe to the east and Asia to the west, and extending north and south from Panama to Alaska. High-powered stations were built at Annapolis, San Diego, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and Cavite, P. I., and the navy erected in France the most powerful wireless station in the world. The naval communication service banded in a single year, by wire and radio, 71,347,860 words.

Great Lakes World Beater.

The navy carried out a shore-construction program involving over $346,000,000, including the building of a score of training camps, with the largest training station in the world at Great Lakes, Ill., with a capacity of 50,000 men; best operating base at Hampton Roads, Va.; a vast project and armor plant at Charleston, W. Va.; the largest mine-laying station at Yorktown; dry docks at Norfolk, Philadelphia, Pearl Harbor and other points, immense machine shops and storage warehouses, and the erection in Washington of the largest of concrete office structures, having a floor space of 41 acres.

The appropriations for the navy amounted to $3,872,354,324 of which $384,360,446 was returned to the treasury. This vast sum was expended with such economy, the navy securing materials, fuel and supplies at so much lower prices than generally prevailed, that they have been no charge whatever of graft or wastefulness.

The organization of the navy department and the fleet, put into effect in 1915, proved so efficient that it expended easily to meet all war requirements, and no basic change whatever was found necessary during the entire war period.

These are only a few of the outstanding things that were done by our navy. The record speaks for itself—and it is a record of which every American may well be proud.

ACT QUICKLY

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your druggist.

Plenty of Connellsville evidence of their worth.

Mrs. D. B. Glass, 304 East Gibson avenue, Connellsville, says: "Last winter I was in a run down condition. My kidneys were disordered and I caused me a lot of trouble. My back ached steadily, making me very weak and I was nervous. I also suffered from headaches, spells of dizziness and was tired and worn out all the time. I had previously cured my little daughter of a severe case of kidney trouble with Doan's Kidney Pills and so I took them. They entirely rid me of the trouble. I am never without Doan's Kidney Pills and think there is nothing like them."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Glass had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

DON'T ASK FAVORS

You'll Be a Lot Happier If You Paddle Your Own Canoe.

Have your own bank account. Don't ask your friends to cash checks for you. They don't like to do it. The place to do your banking is at the bank. Large or small, your checking account is welcome at the old, reliable First National of Connellsville. You'll find paying by check very convenient and it's much the safer way to meet your obligations.—Adv.

PESKY BED BUGS

(Pesky Devils Quietest) P. D. Q. is a new chemical that puts the evilness to the Pesky Bed Bugs, roaches, fleas, ants and cockroaches—impossible for the pesky devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used. Recommendations of Doctors, Scientists, Railroad Companies and other public institutions are a guarantee to the public of the safety of P. D. Q. as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing.

A 3c package makes a full quart, enough to fill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas or cockroaches—and also contains a packet of P. D. Q. to get the eggs out of the bedbugs' places, and save your bed.

Special Hospital also $2.50 makes 450 gallons—contains three pounds—supplies by drugstore or sent prepaid upon receipt of price, either size, by the Owl Chemical Co., 222 E. Main, Ind.—never peddled.
